Board Decides Anderson's Duties Would Conflict With Superintendent's.

HENRICO OFFICIAL

A. D. Wright Elected County Superintendent-School Book Matters.

Without expressing an opinion as to the merits of the reasons advanced by Professor S. R. McChesney, superintendent of the Bristol, Va., city schools, for refusing to indorse the certificate of Professor Charles E. Anderson, the State Board of Education yesterday dismissed the appeal on the ground that Professor Anderson was illegally elected supervising principal. The judgment is that the position to which he was chosen would have interfered with the duties of Superintendent McChesney, who is elected by the State Beard.

Scard.
This eliminates Professor Anderson from the Bristol situation, since he cannot serve in any capacity in the schools there without the indorsement is as follows:

"Resolved, 1, That in the judgment of the State Board of Education, the application of Charles E. Anderson to Superintendent S. R. McCheeney does not come within the purview of sections 30 and 31 of the regulations of the said board, inasmuch as it appears from the evidence that Mr. Anderson was not elected to any position to teach in the public schools of Bristol, but was, in fact, elected to such position as would give him the right to exercize such duties in the public schools of Bristol as are placed in the hands of the division superintendent.

"2. That the appeal of Mr. Anderson is, therefore, dismissed."

New Henrico Official.

A. D. Wright, now city superintendent of the schools of Fredericksburg, was elected division superintendent of the schools of Fredericksburg, was elected division superintendent of the schools of Henrico county, to succeed Professor W. A Maddox, who recently resigned to accept another position.

Professor Wright was formerly a school principal in Richmond, and is well known here. He is an educator of experience. A distinguished graduate of William and Mary College, he studied also at Columbia University. New York. At the request of the City School Board of Fredericksburg, he was last year elected by the State Board of Education as city superintendent. His present election is at the request of the County School Board of Henrico. There was no opposition.

The election of a superintendent for

The election of a superintendent for Fredericksburg was deferred until a future meeting.

The disposal of the Bristol and Henrico matters occupied the morning executive session of the board. In the afternoon the adjustment of high school book contracts was taken up.

School Book Matters.

James D. Crump appeared for the book publishers, regarding a change in one clause of the contract. The latter provided that the publishers must take the shelf stock of the dealers displaced by their books, at sale prices. While most booksellers, said Mr. Crump, were honest, there were some who would take advantage of this situation by repeatedly buying old books at cost prices and forcing the publishers who now have the contracts to accept them, the dealers making profits each time.

The board agreed to fix a time limit for redemption at January 1, 1911, it being understood that dealers are to be a notified of this limitation.

Hugh Stockton, representing Allyne & Bacon, of Boston, had some grievances. He desired the board to place its construction on the guarantee to be given by the publishers to keep books available for the patrons of the schools. He did not think his firm should be forced to pay a fee for doing business in Virginia when it was really doing business in Boston. Allyne & Bacon was not one of the concerns recently in controversy with the Attorney-General regarding the payment of domestication fees, since the person selling the contract as to his Lotin grammar and Virgil, but he had still other kicks.

Single List Price.

One of these was on the algebra He had submitted a bid for a single list, and the board in its adoption had made this optional. The board agreed to give Mr. Stockton what he wanted—an increase of 5 cents in his price, considering that this book was one of the few passed over for one year.

The State Board assured him that it was the body to bring action for for felt, and that it would not be likely to take such a step if a concern were using every reasonable means to supply the pupil with its books.

Mr. Stockton further produced an advertisement from a department store, offering a book at less than the list price. He asked if his firm would be liable if its books were sold by such in the feet of the feet of
